

2019–2020 Call for Applications

Application Deadline: November 7, 2018 (3 p.m. ET)

Robert Wood Johnson Foundation

ROBERT WOOD JOHNSON FOUNDATION HEALTH POLICY FELLOWS

PURPOSE

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Health Policy Fellows program provides the nation's most comprehensive learning experience at the nexus of health, science, and policy in Washington, D.C. It is an outstanding opportunity for exceptional mid-career health professionals and behavioral/social scientists with an interest in health and health care policy. Fellows participate in the policy process at the federal level and use that leadership experience to improve health, health care, and health policy.

BACKGROUND

RWJF is striving to build a national Culture of Health where everyone has the opportunity to live a healthier life. The RWJF Health Policy Fellows program, which seeks to build and maintain strong and diverse leadership and a workforce skilled in health policy, is critical to that vision.

Initiated in 1973, the RWJF Health Policy Fellows program seeks outstanding mid-career health professionals, behavioral/social scientists, and others with an interest in health and health care who:

(1) possess the skills and commitment to use the fellowship experience to provide leadership in improving health, health care, and health policy at the national, state, or local level; (2) bring a depth of expertise and knowledge about health and health care to the policymaking process; and (3) can offer an informed perspective on important and complex challenges facing policymakers.

Fellows actively participate in the formulation of national health policies in congressional or executive branch offices, and accelerate their careers as leaders in health policy. The National Academy of Medicine (NAM) conducts and administers the fellowship, with funding support from RWJF.

THE PROGRAM

The fellowship requires, at a minimum, a 12-month residential experience in Washington, D.C., which prepares individuals to influence the future of health and health care in the nation.

The fellowship begins in September with an intensive three-and-a-half-month orientation arranged by the NAM, during which time the fellows meet with national leaders of health and health care policy, think tanks and interest groups, key executive branch officials, and members of Congress and their staffs. Fellows also participate in seminars on health economics, the congressional budget process, current priority issues in federal health policy, and the process for federal decision-making. In November, fellows join the American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program to expand their knowledge and awareness about Congress and the political process. The concentrated orientation is designed to prepare the fellows for immediate success in federal legislative and executive branch positions.

Fellowship placements generally begin in January. During these assignments, fellows are full-time, contributing participants in the policy process with members of Congress, a congressional committee, or in the executive branch. Solely under the supervision of the office in which they are placed, fellows typically will:

- Help develop legislative or regulatory proposals;
- Organize hearings, briefings, and stakeholder meetings;
- Meet with constituents;
- Brief legislators or senior administration officials on a range of health issues; and
- Provide staff support for House-Senate conferences.

Fellowship assignments are supplemented throughout the year by seminars and group discussions on contemporary federal policy topics, as well as media/strategic communication training and leadership development activities. Fellows are asked to prepare a formal presentation on a health policy issue with which they have been engaged. Fellows also take part in meetings of the NAM and other health policy organizations, as well as in cultural and social functions.

Fellows may request approval from the national program office (NPO) at the NAM to extend the Washington stay past the 12-month fellowship period of September to August through the legislative session, or until December 31, 2020. A fellow may carry out additional activities with the support of any remaining funds until August 31, 2021, subject to review and approval of those activities by the NPO and RWJF.

After the Washington residential experience, fellows become part of a nationwide alumni network and typically return to Washington each year to attend the program's annual meeting, and to be briefed on issues and trends in health and health care policy.

TOTAL AWARDS

Up to six awards of up to $165,000 each will be made in 2019. Fellowship funds of up to $104,000 may be used for the residential stay (not to exceed the fellow's salary prior to entering the program) from September 1, 2019, through August 31, 2020. The continuation of fringe benefits at levels corresponding to the level of stipend support being requested may be covered with the award, and sponsoring institutions may supplement fellowship funds.

2019–2020 Call for Applications

Application Deadline: November 7, 2018 (3 p.m. ET)

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- Exceptional mid-career professionals from academic faculties, government (including military, U.S. Dept. of Veterans Affairs, U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps, and state offices who are not considered government officials under Section 4946 of the Internal Revenue Code)* and nonprofit health care organizations who are interested in experiencing the health policy process at the federal level are encouraged to apply.
- Applicants must have earned an advanced degree in one of the following disciplines: medicine; nursing; public health; allied health professions; biomedical sciences; dentistry; economics or other social sciences; health services organization and administration; social and behavioral health; or health law.
- Applicants whose official job description or responsibilities are primarily government relations or advocacy are not eligible to apply.
- Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents at the time of application. - Individual candidates for receipt of award funds cannot be related by blood or marriage to any Officer** or Trustee of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, or be a descendant of its founder, Robert Wood Johnson.

\ For these purposes, government officials are defined as any person who holds one of the following:*

- 2. An office in the executive or judicial branch of the Government of the United States, appointment to which was made by the President;*

DIVERSITY STATEMENT

Consistent with RWJF values, this program embraces diversity and inclusion across multiple dimensions, such as race, ethnicity, gender, geography, profession, political views, disability, age, and socioeconomic status. The Foundation strongly encourages applications in support of individual candidates who will help expand the perspectives and experiences that fellows bring to their work. The Foundation believes that diverse perspectives and experiences will help to build a Culture of Health, enabling all in our diverse society to lead healthy lives, now, and for generations to come.

THE IDEAL CANDIDATE

The ideal candidates for this fellowship bring a unique perspective, deep subject matter expertise, and extensive experience in a domain related to health. They have a record of exceptional professional accomplishment and are a recognized expert within their profession, community, institution, or organization. Because of the unique nature of working on Capitol Hill or in the executive branch and the uncertainty that often accompanies the legislative process, individuals who are flexible, team players, and fast learners tend to be more successful. A positive attitude, confidence, sense of humor, humility, listening skills, discretion, and patience are highly regarded. Those with strong emotional intelligence and networking skills will be able to maximize the value of this experience in their subsequent roles as leaders and influencers improving the health of the nation.

SELECTION CRITERIA

Members of the RWJF Health Policy Fellows advisory board will assess each applicant, based on the following criteria:

- Professional achievements
- Potential for leadership in health policy
- Potential for future growth and career advancement
- Potential for significant contributions to improving health, equity, and well-being in the nation
- Interpersonal and communications skills
- Individual plans for incorporating the fellowship experience into specific career goals

2019–2020 Call for Applications

Application Deadline: November 7, 2018 (3 p.m. ET)

By mid-January 2019, the advisory board will select finalists from the applicants for in-person interviews in Washington, D.C., which will be held on February 26, 2019. Applicants who are selected for interviews will receive details about the remainder of the process upon invitation.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Due to heightened ethical scrutiny at the federal level, including fellows placed in congressional or other federal offices, the NPO will request information from finalists about ongoing personal and professional activities or interests that might conflict with the participation of a fellow in congressional or federal assignments. This disclosure is required to identify any activity or interest that might:

1. Significantly impair the fellow’s objectivity, or
2. Create an unfair competitive advantage for any person or organization.

Each finalist will provide a list of past, existing, and future paid and unpaid activities, board affiliations, consultancies, or other interests and sources of financial support. To preserve the integrity of the fellowship program and to ensure that the fellows—during tenure as the RWJF Health Policy Fellows—is not compromised by the appearance of a conflict of interest, fellows will sign a statement affirming that there is no conflict of interest or competing interest that would preclude them from accepting a congressional or executive branch placement during the fellowship year.

The term “conflict of interest” applies not only to the personal interests of the fellow but also to the interests of others with whom the fellow has substantial common financial interests, including the fellow’s spouse and dependent children.

As a condition of the fellowship, fellows may be required by the federal government to submit a financial disclosure statement and sign a declaration of adherence to policies and laws governing codes of ethical conduct. For more information about specific ethics determinations, please visit

http://ethics.house.gov/sites/ethics.house.gov/files/documents/2008\_House\_Ethics\_Manual.pdf (see page 284).

EVALUATION AND MONITORING

Grantees are expected to meet RWJF requirements for the submission of annual narrative and financial reports, as well as periodic information needed for overall project performance monitoring and management. Upon completion of the program, grantees are required to provide final narrative and financial reports.

ADMINISTRATION OF FELLOWSHIP FUNDS

There are two options for the administration of fellowship stipends:

2019–2020 Call for Applications

Application Deadline: November 7, 2018 (3 p.m. ET)

Track 1: Sponsoring Institution

Applicants with sponsorship from an eligible institution shall indicate the source of sponsorship in the application. Nonprofit health care organizations that are tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(3), governmental offices, and academic centers that are housed at nonprofit, tax-exempt or public institutions of higher education are eligible sponsors.

Track 2: Program-Administered Stipend

Applicants without a sponsoring institution may request the award be administered by the NAM. A fellow under Track 2 will receive a stipend of up to $104,000 divided equally into 12 monthly payments, and may request enrollment in an optional health insurance program that is subtracted from the $165,000 award. Stipend payments will continue while the fellow remains in the fellowship.

TAXABILITY

Fellowship stipends may be subject to income taxes. The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine (the National Academies)/NAM will not withhold or report income taxes and will not deduct F.I.C.A. contributions (Social Security taxes) from the stipends. The stipends are considered non-compensatory fellowship income and the National Academies/NAM will not report income on IRS Forms W-2 or 1099 Misc. taxes. Fellows are not considered employees of the National Academies/NAM or RWJF. The fellow is responsible for any applicable taxes on the award. Please consult the IRS website at www.irs.gov for more information about fellowship tax reporting and for information on how to file a quarterly declaration of estimated tax, if indicated.

USE OF FOUNDATION FUNDS

Up to six awards of up to $165,000 each will be made in 2019. Fellowship funds of up to $104,000 may be used for the residential stay (not to exceed the fellow's salary prior to entering the program) from September 1, 2019, through August 31, 2020. The continuation of fringe benefits at levels corresponding to the level of stipend support being requested may be covered with the award, and sponsoring institutions may supplement fellowship funds. Any remaining fellowship funds after the residential stay may be used for continued pre-approved leadership development, partial salary support, travel, research, conferences, educational pursuits, and networking.

Fellowship funds administered by the NAM for Track 2 fellows, in addition to covering fellowship stipends during the Washington stay, may cover an optional health insurance program. The NAM will administer any remaining fellowship funds after the Washington stay for Track 2 fellows, or make arrangements to transfer those funds to a subsequent institutional sponsor.

For both tracks: No additional direct or indirect costs are paid for during the first 12 months of this program. At no time are indirect costs allowable for the fellowship award. Funding for computers, laptops, printers, smartphones, or other equipment is not allowed. Fellows will be directly reimbursed for relocation expenses through separate funds within limits specified by the NAM.

Fellows must commit 100 percent of their time to program activities during the first 12 months. On returning to their sponsoring organization or starting their next position, fellows may undertake a pre-approved plan to continue their health policy leadership development. In the event that a fellow changes sponsors during the grant period, the fellow and the new sponsoring institution must prepare a plan subject to review and approval by the national program director. A fellow who seeks such a grant transfer or other similar changes to the fellowship grant should become familiar with RWJF grant procedures and timelines. The fellow seeking such a grant revision must work with the appropriate RWJF staff and anticipate that such requests require up to two months to process. Grants are made to sponsoring institutions for Track 1 or to the NAM for Track 2, and must follow the RWJF funding guidelines.
